A NEW LIFE FOR UNIQLO CLOTHING

REDUCE/REUSE/RECYCLE

"RE.UNIQLO" is a framework that helps maximize the utility of the clothing we make, contributing to a circular society.

*"REDUCE" used clothing disposal by extending the lifespan of each garment. "REUSE" clothing with new purposes. "RECYCLE" clothing into new products and materials. Clothing has the power to change the future. None of this can happen without your help. Please bring any UNIQLO items you no longer need to a UNIQLO recycling box.

THE POWER OF CLOTHING

EMBROIDERY + REPAIR STUDIO

Customize your UNIQLO products with our RE.UNIQLO Studio embroidery service. Choose from a variety of icons inspired by Texas and create one-of-a-kind pieces to keep.

Items cannot be returned or exchanged after embroidery processing. You cannot change the color of the thread. You can combine the design with text and illustrations. You cannot change the size of the embroidery design.

Jackie didn't grow up having her own horses when she was young, so she learned how to ride on other people's horses. She moved from Florida to Texas to dive more deeply into her passion. Today she is an established horse-trainer.

Marcello Andres Ortega is a Dallas-based ceramic artist known for his unique sculptural pieces that blend traditional techniques with contemporary design. His functional work is rooted in cultivating conviviality and sentiment.

Olivia's career as a model has taken her all over the world, but she'll never stop telling people she's a Texan all the way. College took her to California and her job to New York City, but her Texas roots mean the world to her.

DEAR GIANA is a Filipino-Mexican American artist, designer, and fashion influencer from Dallas, Texas. She is known for her unique streetwear style and recreating high-end fashion imagery and was named a member of Vogue's Youth 100 list.

Noah's career as a model is still in its early chapters. He's excited at the chance to see the world and meet people of all backgrounds. Growing up in the Houston area, Noah's lifelong passions revolved around sports, in particular basketball.

MADE FOR ALL. MADE FOR TEXAS.

A store that began in the suburbs of Japan is now opening up shop on the second biggest piece of land in America. Big skies, big trucks, big roads, big personalities, and big ambitions. But big only begins to describe the Lone Star State.

After interviewing nearly a dozen Texans, what we found was a land with supersized heart. Nearly everyone we spoke to emphasized the importance of diversity, tradition, and giving back. These are touchstones that UNIQLO and Texas share.

For its people, traditions, football games, rodeos, its beauty queens and everyday kings, its real Texas barbecue, its dreamers and new ideators—Life is about building things that last, and using the strength of our independence to make life better for everyone else. Heart leads the way just like it has for UNIQLO since 1984.

In Texas, we found no shortage of leaders who lead that way. So we teamed up with them to make the brand that's Made for All, Made for Texas.

With five stores opening across Houston and Dallas in October, we can't wait for the great state of Texas to meet UNIQLO.

Keke leads The Queen's Foundation, an organization dedicated to serving low-income youth in the community. The foundation aims to empower and uplift underprivileged children by providing them with the necessary support and resources.

Christine is a visually impaired chef who won "MasterChef" season 3. Her cookbook, Recipes from My Home Kitchens, was a New York Times best-seller. She speaks regularly about disability advocacy, and has served as a culinary arts envoy overseas for the American Embassy.

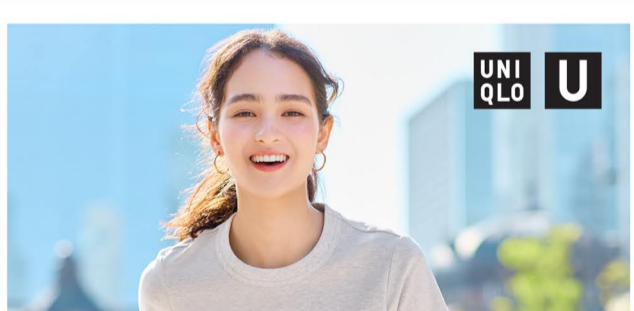

Known in Houston as the "Whole Hog Guy", Patrick is a self-taught pitmaster and Purple Heart recipient. In 2012, Patrick launched Feges BBQ, which focused on catering events and executing pop-ups with non-traditional smoked meats.

A recording artist and television host, Julia encourages empowerment self-worth and good vibes. Influenced by the genre-crossed locker room playmates she and her Texas volleyball teammates blasted, Julia's musical style blends country with rhythm and attitude.
